Willie Albert "Johnnie" Barton, a son of Willie Creed and Maude (Radabaugh) Barton, was born November 22, 1919 and died September 8, 2009. He married Goldine Davidson February 7, 1946.

On February 7, 1946, Goldine Davidson became his wife, and they had one son, John Larry, on March 25, 1949. Goldine and Johnie went to the same school, where they learned their philosophy for life: "To work hard, stay out of trouble, and go to church."

He enlisted in the US Army on April 9, 1942, at Fort Hayes in Columbus, Ohio. He landed in the first wave at Omaha Beach in France. He fought from Omaha Beach to Bastogne. He was assigned to General Patton's command while in the field at Bastogne and awarded two Bronze Stars for Service Above and Beyond the Call of Duty - one of which was awarded at the Battle of the Bulge. He was wounded twice and able to be patched up and continue fighting. However, he was wounded in Worms, Germany, and transferred to a hospital in England, where he was awarded the Purple Heart.

After Germany surrendered, he was sent to the Philippines. He was discharged January 23, 1946, at Fort Bragg, NC, having served his country to the best of his ability.
